‘Thank you’ signs that sprang up after Sonoma County fires turned into a poster (pressdemocrat.com)

When the Jelberg family evacuated their Calistoga Road home on Oct. 8, fleeing the Tubbs fire, they assumed it would be the last time they’d ever see it. A couple days later, they learned their home had been spared. “It was just so hard (for him) to find words,” Michelle Jelberg said on behalf of her husband, who was out of the country during the interview. “All he could come up with was, ‘Thank you.’” basically, and the fire crews were all just savin...
